1. Applicant's election with traverse of claims 1 and 13 in the reply filed on 12/27/04 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that there are no multiple species exist. This is not found persuasive because there are four different embodiments exist in the application. These four embodiments have different structures from each other.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

2. Claims 2-12 and 14-21 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on 12/27/04.

3. The drawings are objected to as failing to comply with 37 CFR 1.84(p)(5) because they do not include the following reference sign(s) mentioned in the description: 190 (page 12, line 24), 30, 40, 50 (page 13, lines 29-30). Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

4. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: Reference numeral 100' is shown in Figure 2 instead of Figure 1 (page 14, line 13).

Appropriate correction is required.

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Arahira et al. (in the IDS filed on 12/12/03).

In regards to claim 1, Arahira et al. show all the elements of the claimed invention in fig. 1. It is an optoelectronic component, comprising: a semiconductor substrate (n-InP); an active layer (a lower portion of the MQW (multiple quantum wells)) overlying the semiconductor substrate; a further active layer (an upper portion of the MQW (multiple quantum wells)) overlying the semiconductor substrate; an absorber device (saturable absorber) associated with the further active layer; an amplifier device (gain) associated with the active layer, wherein the absorber device and the amplifier device reside within an optical resonator portion of the component (the area between the DBR and the outer edge of the saturable absorber).

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Arahira et al. in view of O'Brien et al.

In regards to claim 13, Arahira et al. further disclose an electrical connector pad (Au/AuZn) for the absorber device overlying a top portion of the component.

Arahira et al. differ from the claimed invention by not showing the electrical connector pad is tapered.

O'Brien et al. disclose a tapered electrical connector pad (a contact for pump section [213]) in an absorber section of an optical amplifier semiconductor device in fig. 35g.

Since both Arahira et al. and O'Brien et al. teach an absorber in an optical semiconductor device, it would have been obvious to have the tapered electrical connector of O'Brien et al. in Arahira et al. because it allows more light into the amplifier of the device.
